MYANMAR NEWS

The Yangon Region Investment Committee has approved four new foreign-funded projects in the industrial sector, focusing on garment manufacturing. With a total of 5.2 million USD, these projects are expected to create nearly 3,700 local jobs, reports One News.

According to DFDL, Myanmar's Intellectual Property Department has issued new clarifications for its patent system, detailing two pathways for substantive examination and the rules for paying annual fees. The updates aim to streamline the process for applicants seeking patent and utility model protection.

The United States has sanctioned five individuals and three entities in Myanmar and Thailand for operating forced labor compounds that carry out sophisticated online investment scams, reports Business Standard.

In response to the temporary closure of key border posts with Thailand and China, Myanmar has launched new trade routes, including a container shipping line between Yangon, Kawthoune and Ranong, to facilitate the flow of goods and ease cargo stranded by the suspensions, writes The Global New Light of Myanmar.

REGIONAL NEWS
China

According to China Briefing, the United States and China have agreed to a temporary trade truce, regionally reducing tariffs and suspending punitive measures like port fees and rare earth export controls for one year. The deal, which lowers the effective US tariff rate on Chinese goods from 57% to 47%, also includes Chinese commitments to increase agricultural purchases and provides a stabilized framework for businesses amid continued negotiations.

Malaysia

Malaysia is enjoying renewed economic momentum, with a strong ringgit, solid GDP growth and diplomatic achievements at the recent ASEAN Summit. However, challenges persist as U.S. tariffs threaten exports and the trade deal with Washington faces domestic scrutiny. While Prime Minister's leadership has boosted confidence, fiscal pressures, political compromises, and Malaysia's delicate position between the U.S. and China raise doubts about the long-term durability of this resurgence, states Business Standard.

REPORTS
MYANMAR

The World Bank Economic Monitoring Report was released on 6 December 2025. MIMU noted that Myanmar's economy remains severely constrained, with a fragile recovery amid the impacts of the March 2025 earthquake, ongoing conflict, weak demand, labour shortages, and power outages. Only 45% of affected firms have returned to pre-earthquake levels, and despite a modest rebound projected for FY 2026/27, financing and structural constraints persist.

The essential responsibility of business in human rights

According to OHCHR, Businesses must respect human rights by preventing and addressing adverse impacts across their operations and value chains. In line with the UN Guiding Principles, this requires due diligence, stakeholder engagement, and effective remedies to ensure accountability.
